THE DOLLAR IS DROPPING

Topic One

The decline of the U.S. dollar can be attributed to several factors, including changes in monetary policy, inflation rates, trade deficits, and overall economic performance. Here are some key details about the dollar's drop and the benefits of holding silver as an investment:

Reasons for the Dollar's Decline

- 1. Monetary Policy: The Federal Reserve may implement policies that increase the money supply or lower interest rates, leading to a weaker dollar. Such actions can stimulate economic growth but can also devalue the currency.
- 2. Inflation: Rising inflation can erode purchasing power and reduce the attractiveness of holding cash. As prices increase, the value of the dollar decreases, prompting investors to seek alternative assets.
- 3. Trade Deficits: A consistent trade deficit, (importing more than exporting), can weaken the dollar. This is because more dollars are being exchanged for foreign goods than are coming back into the economy.
- 4. Global Economic Factors: Economic instability in the U.S. compared to other countries can lead investors to shift their capital to stronger currencies or assets, further contributing to the dollar's decline.

WHY SILVER AND GOLD ARE A GOOD INVESTMENTS

Topic Two

What About SILVER?

- 1. Inflation Hedge: Silver, like gold, is a precious metal used to hedge against inflation. As the dollar's value decreases, silver tends to maintain or increase its value, making it a safe haven for investors.
- 2. Industrial Demand: Silver has significant industrial uses, particularly in electronics, solar energy, and medical applications. The industrial demand can drive silver prices up unlike gold, which is primarily a “store of value,” otherwise known as a retrievable asset.
- 3. Portfolio Diversification: Including silver in an investment portfolio can help diversify risk. It often moves independently of stocks and bonds, providing a buffer during market volatility.
- 4. Tangible Asset: Unlike stocks and bonds, silver is a physical asset that investors can hold. The tangible nature of storing silver can be appealing in times of economic uncertainty.

Topic Two

What About GOLD?

The decline of the U.S. dollar has also made gold a popular investment choice for many individuals. Here's an overview of how the dollar's drop impacts gold, why it's considered a good investment, and how it compares to IRAs and the stock market.

- 1. Monetary Policy: Like silver, actions taken by the Federal Reserve, such as lowering interest rates or increasing the money supply, can lead to a weaker dollar, prompting investors to seek out gold as a safe haven.
- 2. Inflation: Rising inflation reduces the dollar's purchasing power. Gold has historically been viewed as a hedge against inflation, meaning that as the value of the dollar decreases, gold prices tend to rise.
- 3. Global Economic Instability: Economic issues, geopolitical tensions, or market volatility can lead investors to turn to gold, which is considered a stable and reliable “store of value” during uncertain times.
- 4. Trade Deficits and Debt Levels: A high level of national debt and persistent trade deficits can undermine confidence in the dollar, prompting investors to shift to gold as a protective asset.

WHY SILVER AND GOLD ARE A GOOD INVESTMENTS

Topic Two

Why Gold?

- 1. Inflation Hedge: Gold is often used as a hedge against inflation. As prices rise, the value of gold typically increases, preserving purchasing power.
- 2. Safe Haven Asset: During economic downturns, financial crises, or geopolitical tensions, gold is seen as a safe haven. Investors flock to gold when other investments become risky, often driving up its price.
- 3. Limited Supply: Gold has a finite supply, which can contribute to its increasing value over time. The supply of gold is constrained by mining and geological factors making it rare and valuable. Unlike fiat currencies that are issued by a government and are not backed by a physical commodity like gold or silver. Fiat currency can be printed without limit, thus lowering its value.
- 4. Portfolio Diversification: Including gold in an investment portfolio helps diversify risk. It often moves independently of stocks and bonds, providing a buffer during market volatility.
- 5. Tangible Asset: Like silver, gold is a physical asset that can be held, offering a sense of security that intangible assets may not provide.

How Do Precious Metals Compare to IRAs and the Stock Market?

IRAs (Individual Retirement Accounts): Traditional and Roth IRAs typically focus on stocks, bonds, and mutual funds. Investing in silver can be done through a self-directed IRA, allowing for the inclusion of precious metals. While IRAs provide tax advantages, they may not offer the same protection against inflation as tangible assets like silver.

Stock Market: The stock market can provide substantial returns, but it is also subject to high volatility and risk. When the dollar weakens, equities may suffer as corporate profits can decline, especially for companies that rely heavily on imports. Silver, being a commodity, may increase in value during such periods, providing a counterbalance to stock market investments.

In summary, as the dollar continues to decline due to various economic factors, silver emerges as a compelling investment option. Its ability to hedge against inflation, coupled with its industrial demand and tangible nature, makes it an attractive alternative to traditional investments like IRAs and stocks. Investors should consider their financial goals and risk tolerance when deciding on their investment strategies.

HOW TO DETERMINE AN HONORABLE AND TRUSTWORTHY SUPPLIER OF GOLD AND SILVER

Topic Three

How to Determine an Honorable and Trustworthy Supplier of Gold and Silver

Determining whether a gold or silver provider is reputable and trustworthy involves several steps. Here are some key factors to consider when evaluating a precious metals dealer:

1. Research the Company: Check Online Reviews: Look for customer reviews on platforms like Trustpilot, Google Reviews, or the Better Business Bureau (BBB). A high number of positive reviews can indicate a trustworthy company.

Company History: Investigate how long the company has been in business. Established companies with a long track record are generally more reliable.

2. Verify Credentials: Licensing and Registration: Ensure that the dealer is properly licensed and registered. This can include state licensing for dealers and membership in professional organizations such as the Professional Numismatists Guild (PNG) or the American Numismatic Association (ANA).

Industry Affiliations: Membership in industry organizations can be a good sign of credibility and adherence to ethical standards.

Topic Three

3. Evaluate Transparency: Clear Pricing Structure: A reputable dealer will provide clear and transparent pricing, including premiums over spot prices, shipping costs, and any additional fees.

Return Policy: Review the dealer's return policy. A fair and reasonable return policy is an indicator of a trustworthy business. Ask them for a copy of their Buy Back Policy.

4. Customer Service: Responsive Communication: Contact the dealer with questions. Do they answer the phone? Do they return phone calls? Do they give understandable answers? A reputable provider will respond promptly and provide clear, helpful answers.

Knowledgeable Staff: Engage with the staff to assess their knowledge about precious metals. A knowledgeable team is likely to provide better service.

5. Security Measures: Secure Transactions: Ensure that the dealer has secure payment options and practices, including Secure Sockets Layer encryption, (SSL) for online transactions.

Shipping and Storage Options: If applicable, inquire about their storage solutions and shipping methods. Reputable dealers should have secure storage facilities and reliable shipping practices.

Topic Three

6. Physical Location: Visit the Store: If possible, visit the dealer's physical location. A legitimate business will have a professional storefront and a knowledgeable staff on hand.

Check for a Local Presence: A local dealer can be easier to deal with if issues arise, compared to an online-only provider.

7. Compare Offers: Get Multiple Quotes: Compare prices and services from several dealers. This can help you gauge the market rate and identify any dealers with excessive premiums or fees.

8. Look for Recommendations: Seek Referrals: Ask friends, family, or financial advisors for recommendations based on their experiences with precious metals dealers.

Online Forums: Participate in online forums or communities dedicated to precious metals investing. Members often share their experiences and can recommend reputable dealers.

9. Trust Your Instincts: Gut Feeling: If something feels off about a dealer or their practices, it's better to explore other options. Trust your instincts when it comes to financial transactions.

By following these steps and conducting thorough due diligence, you can better determine whether a gold or silver provider is honorable and a good business partner for your investment needs.

HOW TO FIND THE RIGHT VALUE OF THE METALS

Topic Four

How to Find the Right Value of the Metals

Finding the right value of precious metals, such as gold and silver, involves several key steps. Here's a guide to help you determine the accurate value:

1. Understand Spot Prices: Spot Price Definition: The spot price is the current market price at which a particular metal can be bought or sold for immediate delivery. It's determined by supply and demand in the global market.

Real-Time Tracking: Use financial news websites, commodity exchanges, or precious metals trading platforms to monitor real-time spot prices. Websites like Kitco, Bullion Vault, or the London Metal Exchange provide up-to-date pricing.

2. Know the Premiums: Premiums Explained: Dealers typically charge a premium over the spot price for precious metals. This premium covers costs like production, distribution, and dealer profit margins.

Compare Premiums: When buying metals, compare premiums from different dealers. This can vary based on the type of metal, form (coins, bars, or rounds), and market conditions.

3. Evaluate the Type of Metal: Different Forms: Understand that gold and silver come in various forms, including coins, bars, and rounds. Each form may have different market values and premiums.

HOW TO FIND THE RIGHT VALUE OF THE METALS

Topic Four

Recognize Popular Coins: Some coins, like American Eagles or Canadian Maple Leaf's, are more sought after and can command higher premiums than generic bars.

4. Consider the Quality: Purity Standards: Precious metals are often measured in terms of purity (e.g., .999 for silver, .9999 for gold). Higher purity usually results in a higher value.

Certification: If purchasing investment-grade coins or bars, look for certification from recognized grading services. Certified metals often hold better resale value.

5. Market Trends and Economic Factors: Economic Indicators: Keep an eye on economic indicators that affect precious metal prices, such as inflation rates, interest rates, and geopolitical events.

Historical Trends: Study historical price trends to understand how various factors have influenced metal values over time. This can help you make informed decisions.

6. Use Valuation Tools: Online Calculators: Utilize online precious metal calculators that can help you determine the value of your holdings based on current spot prices and premiums.

Professional Appraisal: For large investments or unique items, consider getting a professional appraisal to ensure accurate valuation.

HOW TO FIND THE RIGHT VALUE OF THE METALS

Topic Four

7. Monitor Demand and Supply: Global Demand: Pay attention to global demand for precious metals, including industrial uses for silver and jewelry demand for gold.

8. Consult Expert: Financial Advisors: Speak with financial advisors or precious metals experts who can provide insights into current market conditions and future trends.

9. Stay Updated: News and Reports: Regularly read news articles, market reports, and analyses related to precious metals. Staying informed will help you understand market dynamics and make better investment decisions.

By following these steps and actively engaging with the market, you can better determine the right value of gold and silver, ensuring you make informed buying and selling decisions.

SPECIAL COINS VS. JUNK SILVER OR GOLD

Topic Five

What is the Difference between Special Coins and Junk Silver or Gold?

The terms "special coins" and "junk silver or gold" refer to different categories of precious metals, each with unique characteristics, values, and investment potential. Here's a breakdown of the differences:

Special Coins

- 1. Definition - Special coins refer to coins that are typically minted for collectors or investors. They often have specific designs, limited mintage, and may carry a higher intrinsic or numismatic value.
- 2. Examples - Examples include bullion coins like the American Gold Eagle, Canadian Maple Leaf, and collector coins like commemorative issues or limited-edition releases.
- 3. Value - The value of special coins is influenced by several factors, including:
  1. Metal Content: The intrinsic value based on the metal's spot price (gold, silver, etc.).
  2. Rarity: Limited mintage can increase demand and value.
  3. Condition: Coins in better condition (higher grades) are more valuable.
  4. Historical Significance: Coins with historical or cultural importance can fetch higher prices.

SPECIAL COINS VS. JUNK SILVER OR GOLD

Topic Five

4. Market Demand: Special coins are often sought after by collectors and investors, which can lead to price appreciation over time, especially for rare or unique pieces.

5. Potential for Appreciation: Many collectors are willing to pay a premium for special coins, meaning they can appreciate significantly in value, especially if they become rare.

Junk Silver or Gold

1. Definition: - Junk silver refers to coins that are primarily valued for their silver content rather than their numismatic value. These are often older coins that contain a specific percentage of silver but are not considered collectible. Junk gold follows a similar concept, referring to gold coins or items that are valued mainly for their gold content.

2. Examples - Examples of junk silver include pre-1965 U.S. dimes, quarters, and half dollars, which contain 90% silver. Junk gold can include old jewelry, scrap gold, or gold coins that are not numismatic.

3. Value - The value of junk silver and gold is primarily based on the current spot price of the metal. There may be a small premium added, but it is generally lower than that of special coins.

SPECIAL COINS VS. JUNK SILVER OR GOLD

Topic Five

4. Less Complexity: The valuation is straightforward, as it is mainly determined by the weight and purity of the metal.

5. Market Demand: Junk silver and gold can be easier to buy and sell due to their simplicity and lower premiums. They are often used as a hedge against inflation and economic instability.

6. Potential for Appreciation: While junk silver and gold can appreciate if the price of the underlying metal increases, they may not experience the same level of appreciation as rare or collectible coins.

In summary, special coins are often more complex and can carry significant collector value, while junk silver and gold are simpler investments based primarily on the intrinsic value of the metal content. Each serves a different purpose in an investment portfolio, depending on an investor's goals and preferences.

PEACE & SPIRITUAL LIVING

Topic Seven

Peace could be very elusive during a worldwide threat because of the stress any individual threat would create in one's life. Let alone if these threats appear in clusters or simultaneously, as often is the case. Dealing with stress is very important during times of personal relationship problems, financial, health, and survival issues. Successful stress management and remaining clear headed could make the difference in your survival.

More than stress management, maintaining your peace during a disaster could prove to be more valuable than the gold you stored to barter with. Having peace can help your family, friends, and all of those around you that are in a critical situation to survive in an abundant way.

Peace is directly associated with spirituality. If you have not considered spirituality, now would be the time to develop it while we are in a relatively peaceful time. Seeking a Higher Power for peace makes sense when so many things will be out of your control during a worldwide threat.

Believing Jews look to the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob to bring them peace. Prophecies of the Messiah help the Jews focus on God as their victor and keeper. For Jews, their bible predicts the coming of the Messiah who will protect them and establish his forever kingdom.

PEACE & SPIRITUAL LIVING

Topic Seven

Those who know the Jesus of the Christian Bible will deal with stress completely differently than those who do not. There are several reasons for that. First, the bible is full of prophecies foretelling the birth and mission of Jesus to make peace between God and mankind in addition to his return to set up a kingdom of His peace. Jesus came and fulfilled the prophecies of his birth, death, and resurrection. Christians have a great deal of evidence that he will keep his promise to return and ultimately establish worldwide peace. The well-known Christmas prophecy hundreds of years before his birth in Isaiah 9:6 identified Jesus as the Prince of Peace. He offers that peace to you today if you but ask (John 14:27).

Prophecies are comforting and stress reducing because they come from a loving Higher Power that is communicating with his people what to expect. Prophecies for the Christian tell the nature of the times in which Jesus was, is and will be.

Topic Seven

To be part of the Worldwide Threat Family is to understand how to be prepared for the threats. Part of that preparation is to do your part to support the local storehouse that helps people in need, otherwise known as the local church. Both Jews and Christians know the importance of this principal from the example of Joseph in the Old Testament storing up goods in the storehouse. If you do your part to support your local church, God promises to protect the remainder of your supplies in Malachi 3:10-18. That should give you some peace as well.

If you are not walking in peace, we can help you by introducing you to Jesus and giving you free information that will help. We welcome you to contact us by phone 888-391-0354, email at info@theworldwidethreat.com or text at 828-330-4883 and we will be glad to discuss all of this.

We hope to see you next Thursday for latest instalment of the Worldwide Threat. Until then, we will leave you with one last thought.

Jesus says in John 14:1-3, 27-28;

Jesus is the way to the Father

14 Jesus said to his disciples, ‘Do not be sad or afraid. Believe in God, and also believe in me. 2 There are many rooms in my Father's house. I will go now so that I can prepare a place for you there. If it was not true, I would not have told you this. 3 After I have prepared a place for you, I will return. Then I will take you so that you will be with me. You will be where I am...27 I will go away but I will give you a gift of peace. It is mine to give and yours to keep. It is not like a gift that this world gives. Do not let yourselves be sad. Do not be afraid. 28 You heard me say to you, “I will go away, but I will return to you.” (EEV)
